"We are holding the flame. And others can therefore see. Community is when you bring your light, your joy into it. It is not just coming to seek all the time. It is time to take hold and bring that light into a big enormous bonfire. May all of you bring your own light knowing that this is within you as well. Let us come forward, practice, and bring ourselves in alignment with what we have higher intentions for. May we stay connected to the source and channel that source to those in need."
